Josephine Nelson Harriott is Director of Compliance at Adventist Healthcare, where she leads the compliance team at Howard University Hospital. She was previously Senior Associate General Counsel for Health Sciences at Howard University, where her practice included health law, regulatory compliance, business transactions and governance.

Prior to joining Howard, Josephine was a Senior Associate at Miller & Chevalier Chartered, where her practice focused on health care reform implementation, employee benefits, civil litigation and internal investigations.

Ms. Harriott entered Howard University School of Law in 2004 after twenty successful years in the health care and government contracts arenas. Immediately prior to law school, she was employed by ValueOptions, Inc. (now Beacon Health) and served in a number of positions, including Vice President of Corporate Compliance and Privacy Officer, Director of Contracting, and Director of Commercial Operations.
