
Approved Boilerplate & Reference Language

For Top 10 organizations recognized in AHLA's 2026 Top Honors.

Customizable Press Release Template

Copy the text below and fill in the bracketed fields with your organization's information. Top 10 language reflects your ranked position.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

[City, State] — [Date]

[Organization Name] Ranked in AHLA's 2026 Top Honors Top 10

[Organization Name] has been named among the Top 10 organizations in the American Health Law Association's (AHLA) 2026 Top Honors, ranking [#] among all health law firms and organizations in the country based on AHLA membership as of March 31, 2026.

The AHLA Top Honors program recognizes organizations whose sustained investment in health law education and professional development reflects the highest standards of commitment to the health law profession. Top Honors organizations are recognized annually in AHLA's flagship publication, Connections magazine, and on americanhealthlaw.org.

"[Organization Name] demonstrates precisely the kind of sustained institutional commitment that strengthens the health law profession. By investing in their professionals' engagement with AHLA, they advance the quality of legal counsel across the entire health care industry."

— David S. Cade, Chief Executive Officer, American Health Law Association

[Insert quote from organization leader — focus on your team's commitment to health law excellence and what AHLA membership means to your professionals]

The complete 2026 Top Honors list is available at americanhealthlaw.org/top-honors/2026.

About [Organization Name]

[Insert organization description — founding, mission, key services, leadership]

About AHLA

The American Health Law Association (AHLA) is the nation's premier nonpartisan educational organization focused on legal issues in health care. Serving more than 14,000 health law professionals nationwide, AHLA advances excellence in health law practice through comprehensive educational programs, professional development opportunities, and a community of attorneys, compliance professionals, health care executives, and consultants.

Media Contact

[Name · Title · Organization · Phone · Email]

About AHLA — Approved Boilerplate

Use this language when describing AHLA in press releases, website copy, award announcements, and any other external communications.

The American Health Law Association (AHLA) is the nation's premier nonpartisan educational organization focused on legal issues in health care. Serving more than 14,000 health law professionals nationwide, AHLA advances excellence in health law practice through comprehensive educational programs, professional development opportunities, and a community of attorneys, compliance professionals, health care executives, and consultants. Visit americanhealthlaw.org.

CEO Quote — David S. Cade

Replace [Organization Name] with your organization's name. This quote is approved for use in press releases and announcements referencing your Top Honors recognition.

"[Organization Name] demonstrates precisely the kind of sustained institutional commitment that strengthens the health law profession. By investing in their professionals' engagement with AHLA, they advance the quality of legal counsel across the entire health care industry. AHLA values this partnership and the shared dedication to rigorous, relevant health law education."

— David S. Cade, Chief Executive Officer, American Health Law Association

Top Honors Program Description — Short Form

Use this language when describing the Top Honors program itself in your communications.

AHLA Top Honors recognizes organizations whose sustained investment in health law education and professional development reflects the highest standards of commitment to the health law profession. Recipients are recognized annually among firms and organizations with 25 or more AHLA members as of March 31.

Press Inquiries

Direct all media inquiries about the Top Honors program to AHLA at the contact below.

Communications | American Health Law Association

pressinquiry@americanhealthlaw.org

americanhealthlaw.org/top-honors/2026

Usage Note

All language in this document is approved for external use as written. If your organization requires modifications to the approved boilerplate or CEO quote, please contact AHLA's Member Services Center team at msc@americanhealthlaw.org before publishing.