

Henry Leventis is a healthcare and litigation partner in Holland & Knight's Nashville and Washington, D.C. offices. He assists healthcare clients with government enforcement matters, internal investigations, and compliance issues. He also helps clients acquiring healthcare companies to identify and mitigate regulatory risk during due diligence.

Prior to joining Holland & Knight, Mr. Leventis served as the presidentially appointed United States Attorney for the Middle District of Tennessee. In that role, he was the chief federal law enforcement officer and regulator for the nation's healthcare capital. Under Mr. Leventis' leadership, the U.S. Attorney's Office prioritized fighting fraud, waste and abuse in the healthcare system while, at the same time, significantly increasing its outreach to healthcare industry stakeholders.

Mr. Leventis is an accomplished litigator and trial lawyer. Prior to his appointment as U.S. Attorney, he served as a federal prosecutor for 10 years in both Nashville and Washington, D.C. He has investigated, litigated and tried dozens of high-stakes enforcement matters in federal and state courts throughout the United States and held numerous leadership positions in the Justice Department.