

Adrienne Frazier is an experienced trial lawyer with specific experience in health care fraud and government investigations. She delivers practical legal advice in the complicated and constantly evolving health care industry while providing strategic legal, compliance and operational guidance and support to a wide range of health care clients. Before formulating a legal strategy, she works with clients to consider all aspects of an existing or potential dispute, including their legal and business goals. Clients rely on her to help resolve important disputes, whether through trial or other dispute resolution methods.

She advises clients on a variety of areas including:

- False Claims Act
- OIG/DOJ investigations
- Health care fraud
- Internal investigations
- Anti-kickback statute
- Medicare and Medicaid compliance
- Covid-19 and Paycheck Protection Program issues

Adrienne served as an Assistant Chief with the Department of Justice Fraud Section from 2018 to 2022 and as an Assistant United States Attorney with the Northern and Southern Districts of Texas from 2014 to 2018. She also served as an Assistant District Attorney prosecuting criminal offenses for the State of Texas.
